Disrupting Real Estate Brokerage Model

Traditional "Brick and Mortar" Real Estate Brokerage model is broken

- High fixed cost (offices, personnel, and infrastructure)
- Low agent income due to higher splits to broker; 30% split on average
- Agents may invest less in marketing due to lower income
- · Difficult to attract and retain talented agents
- Slow and expensive expansion due to need for brick and mortar

Vs

Fathom's PaaS Brokerage is the model of the Future

- Software-based model operates in the cloud
- · Scalable, asset-light with substantial lower overhead
- Higher agent income; agent pays flat $450 fee per transaction
- Agents can invest more money in growing business
- · Easier to attract and retain high performing agents
- Faster geographical expansion thanks to lower market entry cost
- · Integrated mortgage, title, and insurance businesses

Note about Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To supplement its consolidated financial statements, which are prepared and presented in accordance with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP"), the Company uses Adjusted EBITDA, a non-GAAP financial measure, to understand and evaluate its core operating performance. This non-GAAP financial measure, which may be different than similarly titled measures used by other companies, is presented to enhance investors' overall understanding of the Company's financial performance and should not be considered a substitute for, or superior to, the financial information prepared and presented in accordance with GAAP.

Fathom defines Adjusted EBITDA as net loss, excluding other (income) expense, net, income tax expense, depreciation and amortization, and share-based compensation expense.

Fathom believes that Adjusted EBITDA provides useful information about the Company's financial performance, enhances the overall understanding of our past performance and future prospects, and allows for greater transparency with respect to a key metric used by management for financial and operational decision-making. The Company believes that Adjusted EBITDA helps identify underlying trends in its business that otherwise could be masked by the effect of the expenses excluded in Adjusted EBITDA. In particular, Fathom believes the exclusion of share-based compensation expense related to restricted stock awards and stock options provides a useful supplemental measure in evaluating the performance of its operations and provides better transparency into its results of operations.

Adjusted EBITDA is being presented to assist investors in seeing the Company's financial performance through the eyes of management, and because it believes this measure provides an additional tool for investors to use in comparing Fathom's core financial performance over multiple periods with other companies in its industry.

Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered in isolation from, or as a substitute for, financial information prepared in accordance with GAAP. There are a number of limitations related to the use of Adjusted EBITDA compared to net loss, the closest comparable GAAP measure, including: Adjusted EBITDA excludes share-based compensation expense related to restricted stock awards and stock options, which have been, and will continue to be for the foreseeable future, significant recurring expenses in the Company's business and an important part of its compensation strategy; and Adjusted EBITDA excludes certain recurring, non-cash charges such as depreciation and amortization of property and equipment and acquired and internally developed intangible assets, although these are non-cash charges, the assets being depreciated and amortized may have to be replaced in the future.
