CINCINNATI, April 19, 2024 - The Procter & Gamble Company (NYSE:PG) reported third quarter fiscal year 2024 net sales of $$ 20.2$ billion, an increase of one percent versus the prior year. Organic sales, which excludes the impacts of foreign exchange and acquisitions and divestitures, increased three percent. Diluted net earnings per share were $$ 1.52$, an increase of $11 \%$ versus prior year.

Operating cash flow was $$ 4.1$ billion, and net earnings were $$ 3.8$ billion for the quarter. Adjusted free cash flow productivity was $87 \%$, which is calculated as operating cash flow excluding capital spending, as a percentage of net earnings. The Company returned $$ 3.3$ billion of cash to shareowners via approximately $$ 2.3$ billion of dividend payments and $$ 1$ billion of share repurchases. The dividend increase declared earlier this month marks the 68th consecutive year that P&G has increased its dividend and the 134th consecutive year that P&G has paid a dividend since its incorporation in 1890.

January - March Quarter Discussion

Net sales in the third quarter of fiscal year 2024 were $$ 20.2$ billion, a one percent increase versus the prior year. Organic sales, which exclude the impacts of foreign exchange and acquisitions and divestitures, increased three percent. The organic sales increase was driven by a three percent increase from higher pricing. Mix and volume had a neutral impact on sales for the quarter.

${ }^{(1)}$ Net sales percentage changes are approximations based on quantitative formulas that are consistently applied.
${ }^{(2)}$ Other includes the sales mix impact from acquisitions and divestitures and rounding impacts necessary to reconcile volume to net sales.

- Beauty segment organic sales increased three percent versus year ago. Skin and Personal Care organic sales declined low single digits due to lower sales of the super-premium SK-II brand, partially offset by volume growth from innovation in Personal Care. Hair Care organic sales increased high single digits driven by increased pricing in Latin America, Europe and North America.
- Grooming segment organic sales increased ten percent versus year ago driven primarily by higher pricing in Latin America and Europe. Volume growth was partially offset by unfavorable product mix.
- Health Care segment organic sales increased two percent versus year ago. Oral Care organic sales increased mid-single digits due to premium product mix, partially offset by volume declines mainly in Asia Pacific and North America. Personal Health Care organic sales increased low single digits driven by increased pricing, partially offset by volume declines due to lower incidence of cough and cold.
- Fabric and Home Care segment organic sales increased three percent versus year ago. Fabric Care organic sales increased low single digits due to increased pricing and favorable geographic mix due to growth in North America and Europe. Home Care organic sales increased high single digits due to increased pricing and volume growth from innovation.
- Baby, Feminine and Family Care segment organic sales were unchanged versus year ago. Baby Care organic sales decreased mid-single digits due primarily to pricing-related volume declines, partially offset by favorable product mix and devaluation-related price increases. Feminine Care organic sales increased low single digits driven by increased pricing and favorable product mix, partially offset by pricing-related volume declines. Family Care organic sales increased low single digits due to volume growth, partially offset by unfavorable product mix.

Diluted net earnings per share increased by $11 \%$ to $$ 1.52$, driven by an increase in net sales and an increase in core operating margin. Currency-neutral EPS were up $18 \%$ versus the prior year EPS.

Reported gross margin for the quarter increased 300 basis points versus the prior year. Core gross margin for quarter increased 310 basis points and 400 basis points on a currency-neutral basis. The increase was driven by benefits of 260 basis points from gross productivity savings, 130 basis points of favorable commodity costs and 130 basis points from increased pricing. These were partially offset by 100 basis points of unfavorable gross margin product mix and 20 basis points of product reinvestments and other impacts.

Selling, general and administrative expense (SG&A) as a percentage of sales increased 210 basis points versus year ago and 170 basis points on a currency-neutral basis. The increase was driven by 330 basis points of reinvestments, partially offset by 60 basis points of productivity savings and 100 basis points of net sales growth leverage and other impacts.

Operating margin for the quarter increased 90 basis points versus the prior year, 220 basis points on a currency-neutral basis. Operating margin included gross productivity savings of 320 basis points.

Fiscal Year 2024 Guidance

P&G maintained its guidance range for fiscal 2024 all-in sales growth to be in the range of two to four percent versus the prior year. Foreign exchange is expected to be a headwind of approximately one to two percentage points to all-in sales growth. The Company also maintained its outlook for organic sales growth in the range of four to five percent.

P&G raised its fiscal 2024 diluted net earnings per share growth from a range of $-1 \%$ to inline to a range of one to two percent versus fiscal 2023 EPS of $$ 5.90$. P&G also raised its fiscal 2024 core net earnings per share growth from a range of eight to nine percent to a range of $10 \%$ to $11 \%$ versus fiscal 2023 EPS.

P&G now expects unfavorable foreign exchange rates will be a headwind of approximately $$ 600$ million after tax. The Company expects the net impact of interest expense and interest income to be a headwind of approximately $$ 100$ million after tax. The Company now expects a benefit of approximately $$ 900$ million after tax from favorable commodity costs for fiscal year 2024.

The Company is unable to reconcile its forward-looking non-GAAP cash flow and tax rate measures without unreasonable efforts given the unpredictability of the timing and amounts of discrete items, such as acquisitions, divestitures, or impairments, which could significantly impact GAAP results.

P&G now expects a core effective tax rate of $20 \%$ to $21 \%$ in fiscal 2024.
Capital spending is estimated to be approximately $4 \%$ of fiscal 2024 net sales.
P&G continues to expect adjusted free cash flow productivity of $90 \%$ and expects to pay more than $$ 9$ billion in dividends and to repurchase $$ 5$ to $$ 6$ billion of common shares in fiscal 2024.

The Procter & Gamble Company

Exhibit 1: Non-GAAP Measures

The following provides definitions of the non-GAAP measures used in Procter & Gamble's April 19, 2024 earnings release and the reconciliation to the most closely related GAAP measures. We believe that these measures provide useful perspective on underlying business trends (i.e., trends excluding non-recurring or unusual items) and results and provide a supplemental measure of period-toperiod results. The non-GAAP measures described below are used by management in making operating decisions, allocating financial resources and for business strategy purposes. These measures may be useful to investors, as they provide supplemental information about business performance and provide investors a view of our business results through the eyes of management. Certain of these measures are also used to evaluate senior management and are a factor in determining their at-risk compensation. These non-GAAP measures are not intended to be considered by the user in place of the related GAAP measures but rather as supplemental information to our business results. These non-GAAP measures may not be the same as similar measures used by other companies due to possible differences in method and in the items or events being adjusted. The Company is not able to reconcile its forward-looking non-GAAP cash flow and tax rate measures because the Company cannot predict the timing and amounts of discrete items such as acquisition and divestitures, which could significantly impact GAAP results.

The Core earnings measures included in the following reconciliation tables refer to the equivalent GAAP measures adjusted as applicable for the following items:

- Incremental restructuring: The Company has historically had an ongoing level of restructuring activities of approximately $$ 250-$ 500$ million before tax. On December 5, 2023, the Company announced a limited market portfolio restructuring of its business operations, primarily in certain Enterprise Markets, including Argentina and Nigeria. The adjustment to Core earnings includes the restructuring charges that exceed the normal, recurring level of restructuring charges.
- Intangible asset impairment: The Company recognized in the three months ended December 31, 2023, a non-cash, after-tax impairment charge of $$ 1.0$ billion ( $$ 1.3$ billion before tax) to adjust the carrying value of the Gillette intangible asset acquired as part of the Company's 2005 acquisition of The Gillette Company.

We do not view the above items to be part of our sustainable results, and their exclusion from core earnings measures provides a more comparable measure of year-on-year results. These items are also excluded when evaluating senior management in determining their at-risk compensation.

Organic sales growth: Organic sales growth is a non-GAAP measure of sales growth excluding the impacts of acquisitions and divestitures and foreign exchange from year-over-year comparisons. We believe this measure provides investors with a supplemental understanding of underlying sales trends by providing sales growth on a consistent basis. This measure is used in assessing the achievement of management goals for at-risk compensation.

Core EPS and Currency-neutral EPS: Core earnings per share, or Core EPS, is a measure of diluted net earnings per common share (diluted EPS) adjusted for items as indicated. Currency-neutral EPS is a measure of the Company's Core EPS excluding the incremental current year impact of foreign exchange. Management views these non-GAAP measures as useful supplemental measures of Company performance over time.

Core gross margin and Currency-neutral Core gross margin: Core gross margin is a measure of the Company's gross margin adjusted for items as indicated. Currency-neutral Core gross margin is a measure of the Company's Core gross margin excluding the incremental current year impact of foreign exchange. Management believes these non-GAAP measures provide a supplemental perspective to the Company's operating efficiency over time.

Core selling, general and administrative (SG&A) expense as a percentage of sales and Currencyneutral Core SG&A expense as a percentage of sales: Core SG&A expense as a percentage of sales is a measure of the Company's selling, general and administrative expense as a percentage of net sales adjusted for items as indicated. Currency-neutral Core SG&A expense as a percentage of sales is a measure of the Company's Core selling, general and administrative expense as a percentage of net sales excluding the incremental current year impact of foreign exchange. Management believes these non-GAAP measures provide a supplemental perspective to the Company's operating efficiency over time.

Core operating margin and Currency-neutral Core operating margin: Core operating margin is a measure of the Company's operating margin adjusted for items as indicated. Currency-neutral Core operating margin is a measure of the Company's Core operating margin excluding the incremental current year impact of foreign exchange. Management believes these non-GAAP measures provide a supplemental perspective to the Company's operating efficiency over time.

Adjusted free cash flow: Adjusted free cash flow is defined as operating cash flow less capital expenditures. Adjusted free cash flow represents the cash that the Company is able to generate after taking into account planned maintenance and asset expansion. We view adjusted free cash flow as an important measure because it is one factor used in determining the amount of cash available for dividends, share repurchases, acquisitions and other discretionary investments.

Adjusted free cash flow productivity: Adjusted free cash flow productivity is defined as the ratio of adjusted free cash flow to net earnings excluding the Gillette intangible asset impairment charge. We view adjusted free cash flow productivity as a useful measure to help investors understand P&G's ability to generate cash. Adjusted free cash flow productivity is used by management in making operating decisions, in allocating financial resources and for budget planning purposes. This measure is also used in assessing the achievement of management goals for at-risk compensation.
