Mexico continues its strategy to free Mexican hostages in Gaza and the Red Sea

Mexico continues to work tirelessly and through various channels for the release of the Mexican citizens held hostage in Gaza and the Red Sea.

On Mexico's behalf, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is prioritizing the work it is doing to secure their release through confidential channels. It believes that public statements such as the joint statement signed by 18 countries may harm the efforts underway with several countries and organizations in the Middle East and influence the main goal of freeing our citizens.

Mexico is committed to the release of all hostages still held by Hamas and hopes for their prompt return home and for prolonged peace in the region.
