

FAN-FAVORITE DETECTIVE TEAM IS BACK ON THE CASE WHEN MEDIEVAL BALL FUNDRAISER TURNS MURDER MYSTERY

NIKKI DELOACH AND ANDREW WALKER STAR IN CURIOUS CATERER: FOILED PLANS, A NEW ORIGINAL MOVIE PREMIERING APRIL 26, ON HALLMARK MYSTERY

This is the Fourth Installment of the Curious Caterer Mystery Franchise

STUDIO CITY, CA – April 9, 2024 – Caterer-turned-sleuth and small-town detective join forces again to solve a complicated crime close to home when Nikki DeLoach (The Gift of Peace, Awkward) and Andrew Walker (Three Wise Men and a Baby, Christmas Island) star in Curious Caterer: Foiled Plans, a new original premiering Friday, April 26 (9 p.m. ET/PT), on Hallmark Mystery. This is the fourth installment of the popular whodunit franchise.

For Colorado caterer Goldy Berry (DeLoach), accepting a catering job at Hyde Castle is a dream come true. It's not every day that she gets to cook authentic Medieval fare in a real castle. The royal icing on the plum cake is that it's a themed fundraiser hosted by the Elk Park Fencing Club, which happens to be her daughter Olive's latest obsession. The town favorites gather, only to have their Medieval collars ruffled when another murder takes place just as the feast is served! When the blade of a fencing sword skewers not the succulent roast but the rich owner of Hyde estate, the portcullis is slammed shut, sealing more than the exits of the castle. Together, Goldy and Tom (Walker) must figure out the truth before another Elk Park victim meets an ill-fated demise.

Curious Caterer: Foiled Plans is from Timeless Pictures Production in association with Basset Hound Distribution. Ben C. Silverman, Alexandre Coscas, Michael R. Goldstein and Aidan Heatley are executive producers. Paul Ziller directed from a script by Julie Kim & Kariné Marwood. Based on the book Sticks & Scones by Diane Mott Davidson.
