EUROPE & OTHER (page 15) We are a leader in convenience store and road transportation fuel in Scandinavia (Norway, Sweden and Denmark), Ireland, the Baltic countries (Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania), and have an important presence in Poland. As a result of the geopolitical events leading to economical sanctions imposed from and against Russia, we have suspended our operations in Russia. Strengths that set us apart

Diverse and Competitive Store Network

We have a network of more than 14,000 stores worldwide including a network of more than 7,000 stores in the United States, making us the second largest player in the country. The geographic diversity of our footprint reduces our exposure to adverse local and/or regional market conditions, including fluctuations in road transportation fuel prices.

We compete with many national, regional, local and independent retailers, including grocery chains, supermarkets, other convenience store chains, mini-convenience stores integrated with major oil companies' gas stations, pharmacies, quick-service restaurants, and dollar stores. We continually monitor our competitors, market trends and our market share, and are well positioned to react quickly to maintain our competitive position.

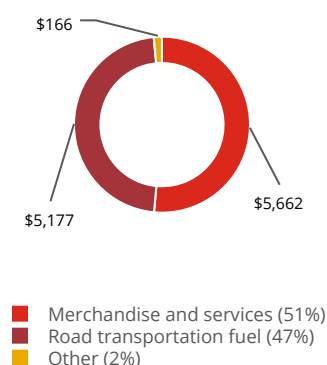

We develop networks of stores in the geographic areas where we operate. This allows us to study each market, refine our location strategy, and carefully manage the closure of any underperforming store. We put great care and invest significant resources in choosing the locations of our stores to maximize visibility and customer traffic, making it more difficult for new competitors to penetrate our markets. We own more than 4,500 lots and more than 5,200 buildings which provides greater flexibility for our day-to-day operations.

Our private brands for select products, investments in technology and innovation, and our focus on customer service also give us a competitive advantage.

Focus on Higher Margin Businesses

We have successfully put in place a compelling in-store merchandise and service offer which allows us to generate higher margins than those achieved through the sale of road transportation fuel. We are rolling out a prepared food program across our network in North America and an enhanced food offering in Europe, as well as growing our car wash business where our sites allow it, to further improve profit margins and differentiate our stores from those of our competitors. For Fiscal 2022, merchandise and services contributed to 51% of our gross profit⁽¹⁾ (47% for road transportation fuel), demonstrating a healthy balance between our main 2 segments.

GROSS PROFIT¹ (fiscal 2022)
($ millions)

⁽¹⁾ For additional information on these performance measures not defined by IFRS, please refer to the section "Non-IFRS measures" of our Management Discussion & Analysis for the 52-week period ended April 24, 2022 available on SEDAR at www.sedar.com.

Decentralized Management Structure

We believe that our agile business structure sets us apart from our competitors and that our entrepreneurial culture is one of our most important business strengths. We manage most of our operations and workforce through a decentralized model with support and direction from several key global teams. This allows us to speed up decision-making, to address local demand for specific products and services, and to optimize corporate overhead.

Each store is operated as a distinct profit center and store managers are responsible for meeting their financial and operational targets. We support our store managers with a strong, experienced management team and appropriate capital resources, which we believe provides them with a significant competitive advantage compared to single-store operators and smaller chains.

Our rigorous performance measurement and benchmarking process ensures that best practices are used across the network. This allows us to provide timely and effective feedback to managers at all levels.

Commitment to Operational Excellence

With close to $63 billion in revenue in fiscal 2022 and over 40 years experience operating convenience stores and fueling stations, our size and scale have enabled us to develop operational efficiencies that provide us with a competitive advantage, particularly for merchandising and procurement. We are continually modernizing our stores and tailoring our merchandising strategies to address the needs and the demands of our customers in the markets where we operate.

Our commitment to operational excellence applies across the product delivery chain, from the selection of store locations to the development of store designs, the supply and distribution of products, merchandising and marketing, and ultimately to the sale of products to our customers. This is supported by experienced and well-trained store and management personnel who are focused on optimizing store performance and maximizing customer satisfaction.

Investment in Innovation and Technology

We invest in innovation and leverage technology in every stage of our operations. Our retail and fuel operations are powered by complex retail, fuel and back office systems. We use robotic process automation and artificial intelligence in our stores and back office to reduce costs and operate more efficiently. We are investing in our data analytics capabilities to improve our understanding of customer behaviour, predict demand, and optimize pricing, assortment, and promotions to increase traffic and basket size. As an example, our retail innovation lab at the Bensadoun School of Retail Management in partnership with McGill University is a live testing ground for innovative and frictionless technologies that address the retail sector's challenges of the future.

Technology allows us to perform an in-depth analysis of inventory purchases and sales. We use this information to continuously refine our procurement strategies and work with our suppliers to optimize our offering, tailor our merchandising, and customize our shelf space. As we grow sales volumes, we believe we can secure more favourable purchasing terms from suppliers as a result.

We are equally focused on leveraging technology to engage and delight customers and employees in new, more personalized ways. This builds on our mission to make customers' lives a little easier every day: our goal is to increase the number of visits and to offer a seamless customer experience. Some examples of this approach include our car wash subscription service, our tactical loyalty programs, our investments in frictionless and in-app payment technologies, and our various customer ordering options, such as home delivery, curbside delivery and click & collect.

Experienced and Motivated Management Team

Our founders and management team have worked together for many years and have developed extensive expertise in operating convenience stores. We have completed many acquisitions since our initial one in 1997, and management's ability to integrate stores within the existing network has been an important factor in our success.

Many members of the management team have progressed into their current positions after working with us for several years in roles of increasing responsibility, while others have joined Couche-Tard from acquired companies and have brought with them complementary expertise.

In fiscal 2020, we implemented a new executive structure to provide a greater strategic balance between functional and operational roles. This new structure is in line with our business strategy, and establishes clear roles and responsibilities, empowers individuals and facilitates the decision-making process.

Strong Cash Flow Generation and Disciplined Capital Allocation

We have consistently been able to generate strong free cash flow with our operations and have remained disciplined over the years on the allocation of our capital. Our balance sheet is healthy with a leverage ratio of 1.4x⁽¹⁾ at the end of fiscal 2022. This strong ability to generate discretionary cash flow allows us to reinvest in our operations, pay dividends to our shareholders, grow our network through acquisitions, and repurchase shares. Our ROE and ROCE metrics are strong reflecting our discipline on capital allocation.

Leading Brands

In September 2015, we announced the launch of a new global Circle K® brand to consolidate the Circle K®, Statoil®, Holiday® and Mac's® retail brands for stores and service stations across Canada, the United States and Europe. Conversion of our European network was completed at the start of fiscal 2020. We believe this consolidation has strengthened customer awareness towards the Circle K brand and reinforced our culture of operational excellence. All automated fuel stations in Europe will continue to be operated under the Ingo® retail brand and we have retained our founding Couche-Tard® retail brand in the province of Québec in Canada.

We have registered and applied to register a variety of trade names, service marks and trademarks that have significant value to our business, and are important factors in marketing Couche-Tard and our convenience stores. It is our policy to register or otherwise protect our intangible assets wherever we operate.

Information Security Protection

We work diligently to protect our management information systems and other information systems from data security breaches, including cybersecurity breaches. With dedicated information security and information risk teams comprised of executives and full-time employees, complemented by third party partners, the Corporation uses a risk-based approach to mitigate information security risk. In fiscal 2021 and 2022, the Corporation provided security awareness training to all of our employees including continuous simulated phishing attacks. We have preventative and detective systems in place that are constantly monitored by a specialized third-party partner. All those measures are aimed at allowing us to detect and investigate events that represent risks, and respond and recover as required.

The Corporation's information systems contain personal information of customers, cardholders and employees. The Corporation is subject to various laws regarding the protection of personal information of its customers, cardholders and employees and has adopted a Privacy Policy that sets out the guidelines for protecting the privacy of personal information.

Our global banner:

Our other banners include:

- Couche-Tard®
- Circle K®
- Mac's®
- Holiday®
- Ingo®

These banners have an established reputation for convenience and excellence in product selection and value that we believe helps differentiate our stores from our competitors.

Our Sustainability Journey - Environment, Social and Governance (ESG)

Sustainability as a lens in our business

As a leading global convenience and mobility retailer, we are committed to making our customers' lives a little easier every day. We are constantly evolving to meet customers' needs, create inclusive and safe workplaces for our people, minimize our impact on the environment and be a trusted neighbour in the communities we serve.

Over the past year, we have progressed with our sustainability journey providing greater transparency and engagement on our efforts to contribute to a cleaner and safer world while creating value for all our stakeholders.

Building on the framework defined in May 2021, we continue to use sustainability as a business lens to our everyday operations and push forward our commitment to actionable results based on stakeholder perspectives, conversations with investors and interviews with business leaders. Our sustainability priorities, targets and ambitions are anchored and contribute to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.

We have set ambitious targets and goals in five focus areas where we believe we can really make a difference - fuel, energy, packaging and waste, workplace safety and diversity and inclusion. Through our Green Bonds, we aim to finance low-carbon and sustainable future through expenditures that align with our desire to contribute to a cleaner and safer world.

You can read more about our sustainability initiatives in our Sustainability Report, which is available on our website (corpo.couche-tard.com).

Respect for the environment

As a responsible retailer, we ensure that we comply with local environmental requirements and legislation while proactively limiting our impact where possible, including those that govern:

- storage, transportation and sale of fuel products
- soil contamination at sites including remediation
- emissions and discharges into air and water
- implementing targets for certain renewable fuels and energy products
- handling and disposal of hazardous wastes
- using of vapour reduction systems to capture fuel vapour
- remediating of contaminated sites
- packaging and non-hazardous waste management.

In the United States, we participate in state funds for companies that operate motor fuel facilities in all states where we operate (except the states where there are no such funds: Alaska, California, Florida, Iowa, Maryland, New York, Oregon, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin). These funds cover some of the cost of cleaning up certain environmental contamination from road transportation fuel equipment, after a deductible (which varies by state) is met.

The amount of insurance coverage varies by state, and the funds are financed by fuel storage tank registration fees and/or motor fuel taxes in each state. We pay annual registration fees, and remit sales taxes to individual states as required.

Based on EU renewable fuel requirements all our European business units are blending renewable fuel components in accordance with national legislation. In some countries fuels representing up to 90% well to wheel carbon neutrality is offered, primarily to B2B customers. In some markets Circle K fuels to all its customers that contribute to more than 30% net GHG reduction compared to a pure fossil product on a well to wheel basis.

We are also subject to a European Union directive on:

- providing the specifications of petrol, diesel and gasoil
- introducing a mechanism for monitoring and reducing greenhouse gas emissions that sets out requirements for the quality of fuel products by imposing thresholds for certain substances
- measures applied to decrease the amount of single use plastic products where sustainable alternatives are available

We comply with this directive by setting out these requirements in our merchandise and fuel supply agreements.

We could be legally liable for remediating current or former sites that have been contaminated, whether or not we knew of or were responsible for the contamination. We proactively seek ways to limit the environmental impact of our activities, adopt suitable processes and regularly monitor fuel system and equipment integrity.

Human capital management

Our worldwide community of people are at the heart of our business. It is their commitment, safety, motivation and talent that have made us a successful convenience store operator. We strive to foster a culture that will allow our employees to develop and perform to the best of their potential by providing them with the training and development opportunities they need. We also strive to create fair and equal opportunities for success amongst all of our employees while treating everyone with respect and dignity and providing valuable benefits tailored to community needs. Leaders at all levels of the organization are committed to respecting human rights and implementing best practices in health and safety, environmental welfare, and social responsibility, which is reflected in their day to day actions.

Commitment to health and safety

The safety of our people, customers and suppliers remain our top priority. We are continuously improving our programs, procedures, training and facilities to ensure a safe and healthy working environment. We have developed a global Health, Safety and Environment strategy and are investing in leading-edge tools to reduce workplace safety incidents. Across our organization, we've also strengthened many of our training programs so that employees are better able to recognize and prevent safety risks. We have set the target to achieve zero harm for our people, customers, employees, and suppliers by 2030 and decrease robberies and recordable work-related injuries by 50% by 2025 from fiscal 2021.

Diversity and Inclusion

In an increasingly complex global marketplace, we believe that being able to draw on a wide range of viewpoints, backgrounds, skills and experience is critical to our success. We encourage diversity at all levels of our organization - from the retail store to the Board of Directors.

Having an employee based that reflects the communities where we operate provides a competitive advantage, because it helps us understand and serve our diverse customers base more effectively. Diversity is also an important part of good governance and key to a well-functioning Board of Directors and effective executive management team. This year, we maintained our target of 30% women for our Board of Directors and set a 2025 target of 35% women for Directors and upper management positions.

Since adding Diversity and Inclusion as a priority to our sustainability strategy last year, we have taken significant strides towards our ambition of equitable representation, opportunities and pay. In fiscal 2022, we launched our first global mentorship program, which we believe will play an essential role in driving inclusivity, as well as leadership development course dedicated to accelerating and developing our minority team members.

Other regulations

We are committed to, and thrive on, being a responsible retailer. Couche-Tard has expertise in providing age restricted products and follows strict legal requirements in markets where it is permitted, including alcohol, lottery, tobacco, other tobacco products, products containing cannabis (through licensed stores) and products containing cannabidiol (CBD). We follow all laws and regulations that apply to us and hold all of the required licences and permits for selling these items.

We also follow all appropriate antitrust and competition laws and regulations that relate to our size and the pricing of our products and services, among other things, as well as price regulations that apply to products like road transportation fuel, milk and alcohol.

Three areas of business

Merchandise and services

The following table shows our revenue breakdown by merchandise and services for the last two fiscal years. Service revenue include fees from automatic teller machines, sales of calling cards and gift cards, revenue from car washes, commission on the issuance of lottery tickets and money orders, as well as sales of postage stamps and bus tickets. Services revenue also includes franchise fees, license fees from affiliates, royalties from franchisees and commissions from agents.

We also negotiate supply agreements with regional suppliers as necessary to meet the needs of each market and adapt our product mix to local consumer preferences.

Road transportation fuel

We sell road transportation fuel at 8,703 (89%) of our company operated stores including full-service and automated sites. We sometimes purchase road transportation fuel and sell it to certain independent store operators at cost plus a margin. We also make non-retail bulk sales to customers with their own storage facilities.

While road transportation fuel sales make up about 72%⁽¹⁾ of our total revenue, it only accounts for about 47%⁽¹⁾ of our overall gross profit⁽²⁾.

North America

We buy road transportation fuel from major oil companies, independent refiners and resellers mainly under supply agreements. Our cost is based on the market price or stated rack price quoted at each terminal, adjusted according to the terms of the supply agreements.

We resell the fuels to our customers at a profit through our company operated stores, under either:

- one of our brands: Couche-Tard®, Mac's®, Circle K®, Holiday®
- the brand names of major oil companies such as ExxonMobil (Esso, Mobil, Exxon), Shell, Valero, BP, Marathon, Irving and Phillips 66.

We record the full value of these sales in our road transportation fuel revenue, including any taxes that are embedded in the purchase price. We make other fuel deals to independent retailers.

We own and operate fuel terminals in Alabama, Minnesota, and Arizona and own and operate fuel terminals in Florida, Illinois and North Carolina through a joint-venture with Musket Corporation.

A tanker truck distribution system supplies our sites with road transportation fuel. Our sites are supplied by trucks owned and operated by ourselves or by external hauliers.

Europe

We sell road transportation fuel at full-service and automated retail sites, and make non-retail bulk sales to customers with their own storage facilities.

Petrol and diesel are sold under our miles® and milesPLUS®, Circle K® and Ingo® brands.

Our fuel business in Europe makes bulk sales of fuels to industrial and commercial customers like hospitals, car rental fleets, road construction crews, bus services, factories and independent resellers or retailers.

We supply our network in Europe using multiple global and regional oil companies or refiners, mainly under supply agreements.

We own and operate fuel terminals in Scandinavia, Latvia, Lithuania and Ireland, which allows us to secure competitive supply terms, optimize our distribution, and be reliable and efficient in key areas of the fuel value chain.

A tanker truck distribution system supplies our sites and wholesale customers with road transportation fuel. Our sites are supplied by trucks owned and operated by ourselves or by external hauliers. A number of our wholesale customers purchase fuel products directly from our terminals and depots using their own transportation systems.

Other

In Europe, we also sell stationary energy and home heating oil. In Ireland, we also sell aviation fuel products to airlines, air charter and cargo companies. Other revenues also include rental income from operating leases for certain land and buildings that we own or lease as well as car rental revenue.

Four kinds of sites

Our stores are in high traffic areas, and include freestanding buildings and stores in strip malls. Most are open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with peak customer traffic in the early morning and late afternoon. Store format varies based on what appeals to customers in their local markets. Simple and consistent exterior design makes them easily recognizable.

Real estate and leases

We own more than 4,500 lots and 5,200 buildings. We also lease a significant number of sites using conventional leases to rent stores, land, equipment and office buildings. We do not believe any of these leases are individually material to us.

In North America, stores range from approximately 800 to 6,500 square feet. Real estate leases are generally for primary terms of five to 20 years, usually with options to renew. Most are net leases that require us to pay taxes, insurance and maintenance costs.

In Europe, stores range from approximately 500 to 5,000 square feet. Lease terms range from short-term contracts to long-term contracts with maturities of over 100 years. Most lease contracts include options to renew either on the same terms or at market prices. We generally do not pay taxes on leased properties in Europe, although the situation differs from country to country.

In Hong Kong, stores range from approximately 200 to 2,000 square feet. Real estate leases are generally for primary terms of two to three years, usually with options to renew. Most are net leases that require us to pay levy.

Our structure

Couche-Tard was incorporated under Part IA of the Companies Act (Québec) (replaced by the Business Corporations Act (Québec) on February 14, 2011) by certificate of amalgamation dated May 1, 1988. On December 15, 1994, the Corporation changed its corporate name from "Actidev Inc." to "Alimentation Couche-Tard Inc." Couche-Tard's share capital was also changed at that time so that it consists of an unlimited number of first preferred shares, an unlimited number of second preferred shares, an unlimited number of multiple voting shares and an unlimited number of subordinate voting shares. On September 8, 1995, by certificate of amendment, Couche-Tard re-designated the multiple voting shares as Class A multiple voting shares (the "Class A Shares") and the subordinate voting shares as Class B subordinate voting shares (the "Class B Shares").

On December 7, 2021, the Class B Shares were delisted from the TSX at the close of business. On December 8, 2021, upon all co-founders of Couche-Tard reaching the age of 65 and pursuant to the Corporation's share terms, all of the Class B Shares were automatically converted into Class A Shares on a one-for-one basis (the "Conversion Event"). Following the Conversion Event, only Class A Shares trade on the TSX under the symbol "ATD".

General developments of the business

COVID-19 backdrop to fiscal 2022

On March 11, 2020, the World Health Organization declared COVID-19, the disease caused by SARS-CoV-2, a pandemic. Shortly thereafter, the jurisdictions in which the Corporation operates imposed strict measures to slow down the transmission of the virus, which measures were lifted and tightened again in successive waves as new variants emerged. During these uncertain times, our stores played a central role in communities. Two years after the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, we continued to see its impact on our business during the fiscal year, which varied by region as the pandemic and social restrictive measures were at different levels year-over-year. Merchandise categories most impacted by COVID-19, such as food, showed a positive trend from the initial pandemic impact and convenience activities performed well in our global network. Fuel margins were higher than pre-pandemic levels, while fuel volumes were challenged by work from home trends and changes in local restrictions.

A discussion of risks and uncertainties related to COVID-19, including the potential impacts on the Corporation's business and results of operations is presented in the Corporation's MD&A.

Credit ratings

Credit ratings are a way to assess the quality of a company's credit and financial capacity. They are not a comment on the market price of a security or its suitability for an individual investor and are not recommendations to buy, hold or sell our securities.

Credit rating agencies provide a range of services, including one-time ratings when the debt is issued, annual monitoring, and updates to ratings, among other things.

In fiscal 2022, 2021 and 2020, we paid Moody's Investors Service, Inc. (Moody's) and Standard & Poor's (S&P) for credit monitoring, and rating fees for the issuance of senior unsecured notes.

Moody's rates both our corporate credit and our senior unsecured notes. Moody's ratings are forward-looking opinions of the relative credit risks of financial obligations issued by non-financial corporations, financial institutions, structured finance vehicles, project finance vehicles and public sector entities. They assign long-term ratings to notes with an original maturity of one year or more, which reflect the likelihood of a default on contractually promised payments and the expected financial loss in the event of default.

S&P rates both our corporate credit and our senior unsecured notes:

- their corporate credit rating is a forward-looking opinion of our overall financial capacity to pay our financial obligations. It focuses on our capacity and willingness to meet our financial commitments when they are due. It does not apply to any specific financial obligation or credit facility, or its financial standing in bankruptcy or liquidation, statutory preferences or the legality and enforceability of the obligation.
- their senior unsecured note rating is a forward-looking opinion of our creditworthiness for a specific financial obligation, class of financial obligations or financial program (including ratings on medium-term note programs and commercial paper programs). It considers the creditworthiness of guarantors, insurers or other forms of credit enhancement on the obligation and the currency of the obligation and may assess terms – like collateral security and subordination – that could affect ultimate payment in the event of a default.

The table below shows the ratings of our corporate credit and unsecured notes as at April 24, 2022. Our February 2016 NOK denominated senior unsecured notes are not rated. The rating agencies can revise or withdraw these ratings at any time.

	Corporate credit	Unsecured notes	What the rating means
Moody's rating	Baa2 (stable outlook)	Baa2	Long-term debt rating scale ranges from Aaa to C. Numerical modifiers 1, 2, and 3 rank the investment within its generic category. An outlook of positive, negative, stable or developing ranks the potential direction of the rating over the medium term. Baa is the ninth highest of 21 ratings. It means the investment is medium-grade, subject to moderate credit risk, and may possess certain speculative characteristics. A 2 modifier means that the investment is in the mid-range of its generic category where a 1 modifier ranks in the higher end of its generic category and a 3 modifier ranks in the lower end.
S&P ratings	BBB (stable outlook)	BBB	Long-term debt rating scale ranges from AAA to D. Some ratings may be modified by a plus (+) or minus (-) sign to show relative standing within the major rating categories. An outlook of positive, stable, or negative ranks the potential direction of the rating in the intermediate term, typically up to two years. BBB is the ninth highest of 22 ratings. It means that there is adequate capacity for meeting our financial commitments. However, adverse economic conditions or changing circumstances are more likely to weaken this capacity. S&P's ratings for corporate credit and unsecured notes are the same unless stated otherwise due to contractual or structural subordination or other characteristics of the notes.

Policies and controls

Internal controls

We have a system of internal controls over financial reporting that is designed to safeguard our assets and ensure that our financial information is reliable. It includes disclosure controls and procedures that ensure:

- the financial and other material information we communicate to analysts and the public is reliable and complete
- we disclose information and file reports required by law and securities regulatory agencies in a timely basis
- we collect and report material information to our executive officers in a way that allows them to make timely decisions on required disclosure.

We regularly review the effectiveness of these internal controls, and make improvements as appropriate. Management and our external auditor have determined that our controls are effective as at the date of this annual information form.

Ethics Code of conduct and ACT hotline

The Corporation has adopted an Ethics code of conduct (the “Code”), which was fully revamped in fiscal 2021. The Code enhances and clarifies the Corporation’s ethical expectations and covers important topics such as integrity, confidentiality, protecting our property and assets, conflicts of interest, fair treatment of clients, suppliers, competitors and employees, insider information and insider trading. It is truly meant to be a guide that helps us all make the right decisions. It is now available in a user-friendly and multilingual document. A copy of our Code is available on our website (corpo.couche-tard.com) and on SEDAR (sedar.com).

The Code applies to everyone at Alimentation Couche-Tard and its subsidiaries, and we expect consultants, intermediaries, lobbyists and anyone who works on our behalf to comply with the Code. We ensure that everyone adheres to the Code by:

- giving new employees a copy of the Code when they are hired, requiring their signature;
- hosting management information sessions;
- annual certification of the Code;
- investigating any incident or complaint in an objective and timely manner; and
- making timely corrective measures if and when required.

In fiscal 2022, with a view of ensuring a widespread understanding and compliance with the Code, the Corporation rolled out and completed a company-wide online training program on the Code to its entire global workforce - be it store or office employees. This training was delivered in multiple languages.

In addition to the Code, the Corporation has also adopted a Whistleblower Policy and Procedures which covers accounting and auditing matters, corporate fraud, and internal accounting controls. This policy provides Couche-Tard’s employees and external stakeholders with communications channels that will allow them to raise concerns in confidence, and anonymously if desired, without fear of reprisals or retaliation of any kinds. All directors, officers and employees are required to understand this policy and comply with its terms.

Finally, alongside the revamping of the Code in fiscal 2021 and the Corporation’s commitment to enhancing its ethical footprint, and with a view of fostering transparency and accountability, the Corporation also made it easier for everyone to report ethical concerns by implementing the new state of the art hotline. The ACT Hotline is a worldwide communication platform, available online at all times and in a multitude of linguistic options to employees and customers everywhere the Corporation operates. The ACT Hotline offers an anonymous reporting option and provides tools ensuring transparency and timeliness in the treatment of submitted concerns.

Independent auditor

PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, a partnership of Chartered Professional Accountants (PwC), has been our auditors since our 2009 fiscal year. They are independent within the meaning of the rules of professional conduct in the Code of ethics of chartered professional accountants (Québec). PwC issued an independent auditor’s report dated June 28, 2022, on our consolidated financial statements and notes related thereto as at April 24, 2022 and April 25, 2021 and for the years then ended. They also issued a report on our internal controls over financial reporting as at April 24, 2022.

Non-audit services

The auditor can also provide non-audit services as long as the services are pre-approved by the audit committee, with the following exceptions. We have a policy that prevents the external auditor from providing any of the following services:

- bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements
- financial information systems design and implementation
- appraisal or valuation services
- actuarial services
- internal audit services
- investment banking services
- management functions or human resources functions
- legal services
- expert services unrelated to the audit.

Auditor fees

The table below shows the fees we paid to PwC for their services in fiscal 2022 and 2021, expressed in Canadian dollars.

	2022 (year ended April 24)	2021 (year ended April 25)
Audit fees	$2,977,661	$3,526,532
Audit-related fees	$195,204	$100,919
Tax fees	$124,893	$40,733
All other fees	$139,135	$650,356
Total	$3,436,893	$4,318,540

Audit fees are for auditing our annual consolidated financial statements, our internal controls over financial reporting and for services that are normally provided by the auditor in connection with an engagement to audit the financial statements of an issuer:

- statutory or regulatory audit and certification engagements, mainly related to European subsidiaries (2022: $1,179,856, 2021: $1,179,005)
- consultations related to specific audit or accounting matters that arise during or as a result of an audit or review
- preparing a management letter
- services in connection with the Corporation's quarterly reports, prospectuses and other filings with applicable securities regulatory authorities (2022: $300,000, 2021: $438,400).

Audit-related fees are for assurance and related services traditionally performed by an independent auditor:

- employee benefit plan audits
- assurance engagements that are not required by statute or regulation
- general advice on accounting standards including IFRS.

Tax fees are for tax planning and other tax advice related to our international corporate structure.

All other fees are for professional services that do not fall into any of the categories above.

Legal proceedings

We are a defendant in a number of legal proceedings, suits, and claims that are part of the ordinary course of business for a retail company. These include cases brought by individual plaintiffs and class action lawsuits, among other things. However, we do not believe that the adverse outcome of any of these legal proceedings, suits and claims would have a material adverse effect on our operating results and financial condition.

Nothing contained in this Charter is intended to expand applicable standards of liability under statutory or regulatory requirements for the directors of the Corporation or the members of the Audit Committee. Even though the Audit Committee has a specific mandate, it does not have the obligation to act as auditors or to perform audits, or to determine that the Corporation's financial statements are complete and accurate.

Members of the Audit Committee are entitled to rely, absent knowledge to the contrary, on (i) the integrity of the persons and organizations from whom they receive information, (ii) the accuracy and completeness of the information provided, and (iii) representations made by management as to the non-audit services provided to the Corporation by the external auditors. The Audit Committee's oversight responsibilities are not established to provide an independent basis to determine that (i) management has maintained appropriate accounting and financial reporting principles or appropriate internal controls and procedures, or (ii) the Corporation's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and, if applicable, audited in accordance with generally accepted accounting standards.
