University of Arizona Hosts Arizona Supreme Court for Oral Arguments on the Road

PHOENIX – The Arizona Supreme Court heard oral arguments on Oct. 30 at University of Arizona’s James E. Rogers College of Law as part of the Court’s Oral Arguments on the Road community outreach program. The initiative offers a unique opportunity for students and the public to witness actual proceedings on cases pending before the Court.

As part of taking the Arizona Supreme Court on the road, justices spend extra time with students and attendees during a Q&A session after arguments. This offers a unique inside look at processes of our judicial system and a more personal view from each of the justices that serve on Arizona’s highest court.

During the visit, Arizona Supreme Court justices had the chance to spend time with College of Law faculty and leadership at a hosted lunch ahead of arguments and got a look at the college’s new mock courtrooms.

The Arizona Supreme Court last took oral arguments into the community during a spring visit to Arizona State University’s College of Law on Mar. 14.
