Dear Sirs

Pure Hydrogen Corporation Limited (PH2): Query Letter

Pure Hydrogen Corporation Limited (Pure Hydrogen) refers to the above matter received 11 September 2024 and your clarifications on 18 & 20 September 2024. Pure Hydrogen responds to the ASX's request for information as follows:

Materiality of the Information

1. Does PH2 consider the Information, or any part thereof, to be information that a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of its securities?

No. Pure Hydrogen does not believe the information is material and the announcement on the 14 August 2024 was not flagged as price sensitive by the Company which confirms this. The information you are referring to is the disclosure "that registration in Brisbane, Queensland of Australia's first Hydrogen Fuel Cell Prime Mover was successfully completed on 9 August 2024, with a handover to PepsiCo expected within the next few weeks."

2. If the answer to question 1 is "yes", please advise why PH2 did not mark the Announcement as 'market sensitive' on MAP.

NA

3. If the answer to question 1 is "no", please explain the basis for that view, noting that the price of PH2's securities closed at $0.1575 on 14 August 2024 (an increase of 16.3% from the previous closing price).

The 14 August 2024 ASX announcement was confirmation of the final step concerning the trial of the Taurus Prime Mover. This matter has been previously disclosed by the Company in numerous announcements and in our regular reporting, including Quarterly Reports and Annual Reports. It is a project that the Company has been working on for over 15 months. As such, the 14 August 2024 announcement was arguably widely expected, with the Taurus Prime Mover passing all of the tests required to obtain relevant approvals leading to registration.

Pure Hydrogen does not have an explanation of the abovementioned share price increase of 2.25 cents per share from the prior day. However, the share price move is not out of the ordinary and the share volume does not appear to be elevated compared to other trading days over the last three months.

4. When did PH2 first become aware of the Information?

The Company first became aware of the information on Friday 9 August 2024.

5. If PH2 first became aware of the Information before the date of the Announcement did PH2 make any announcement prior to the relevant date which disclosed the information? If so, please provide details. If not, please explain why this information was not released to the market at an earlier time, commenting specifically on when you believe PH2 was obliged to release the information under Listing Rules 3.1 and 3.1A and what steps PH2 took to ensure that the information was released promptly and without delay.

As stated previously, Pure Hydrogen does not believe the information is material. The regulatory approval, arguably widely expected, was considered just another step in the process of trialling the Taurus Prime Mover. The Company prepared an announcement and then circulated a draft for both internal approval and customer approval (which is required pursuant to the agreement with the customer) within two business days which allowed the Company to make the announcement on 14 August 2024.

Cleansing Notice

6. Based on the timeline of events outlined above, ASX is concerned that PH2 was aware of the Information at the time it issued the Cleansing Notice. In light of this:

6.1 Please explain why PH2 stated in the Cleansing Notice that, at the date of the Cleansing Notice, it was not aware of any 'excluded information' as defined by sections 708A (7) and 708A (8) of the Act

Pure Hydrogen does not believe there is any excluded information as defined by the above sub-sections.

6.2 Is PH2 of the view that the Cleansing Notice was validly issued? If so, please explain the basis for that view. If not, please outline the remedial action PH2 intends to take to address the defective issue of the notice under section 708 of the Act.

Pure Hydrogen believes the Cleansing Notice was validly issued as Pure Hydrogen's view at the time of issue there was no excluded information as defined under section 708

Investor Presentation – 121 Conference London

7. Noting PH2's statement in the Investor Presentation that the trial program with PepsiCo to build and deliver the first hydrogen-powered prime mover in Australia (the 'PepsiCo Trial') was planned to commence in Q2 CY2024 (paragraph A) and PH2's subsequent disclosure in the Quarterly Report that the PepsiCo order was "Under assessment" (paragraph B):

7.1 Please advise when the PepsiCo Trial actually commenced and provide details of the activities involved in commencement of the trial.

The trial of the Taurus Prime Mover has commenced on Friday 20 September 2024 after the handover of Taurus Prime Mover on 19 September 2024 in line with what was previously indicated in our ASX Announcement of 14 August 2024 which stated, "within a few weeks".

The trial involves PepsiCo drivers operating the Taurus Prime Mover Truck on one of their usual routes moving finished product between a manufacturing facility to a warehouse. The trial will assess the suitability of HFC Prime Movers compared to a diesel truck and will monitor the reduction in emissions and fuel consumption.

7.2 If the PepsiCo Trial commenced after 30 June 2024:

7.2.1 Does PH2 consider the delay in commencement of the trial to be information that a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of its securities? Please explain the basis of that view.

The reference to the trial of the Taurus Prime Mover in the 121 London Conference Presentation is in the Appendix to the presentation. The presentation mentioned the trial was “planned” to commence Q2 CY2024 (our emphasis).

The planned date provided was guidance only and was subject to change without notification as many of the factors are outside of Pure Hydrogen’s control. This was based on the best available information at the time but was always subject to change, particularly as the most important requirement was the approvals. It should be noted that the presentation for the 121 Conference was not flagged as price sensitive.

Pure Hydrogen advises that the abovementioned announcement omitted a footnote stating the above. Future announcements and presentations will contain this footnote.

Pure Hydrogen believes important and substantiative elements of the trial was that it was proceeding and what were the results of the trial. Pure Hydrogen believes investors and shareholders would understand, particularly given the counter party to this trial, that providing precise dates is unreasonable. Furthermore, investors and shareholders would not expect weekly updates, given the nature of the matter, particularly when all Pure Hydrogen could report is that it was still awaiting assessment from the Australian National Heavy Vehicle regulator. Accordingly, Pure Hydrogen does not agree with the premise of ASX’s question. Hence, Pure Hydrogen does not believe it would have a material effect on the share price.

7.2.2 When did PH2 become aware of the delay in commencement of the trial?

There is no particular date Pure Hydrogen become aware of the delay in commencement of the trial. A trial could never commence until regulatory approvals were received. On the 30 June 2024 Pure Hydrogen had not received the regulatory approvals and therefore could not commence the trial. As a result, this could be considered the date Pure Hydrogen became aware.

7.3 If the answer to question 7.2.1 is “yes”, did PH2 make any announcement disclosing the delay in commencement of the PepsiCo Trial. If so, please provide details. If not, please explain why PH2 did not inform the market of the delay prior to release of the Announcement on 14 August 2024.

Pure Hydrogen did not disclose the delay in the commencement of the trial apart from its disclosure in the status of the Taurus Prime Mover’s deployment in a table on page 8 of June 2024 Quarterly Report, in which we stated the Taurus Prime Mover was under assessment and subsequently in the ASX Announcement dated 14 August 2024. As stated previously, Pure Hydrogen does not believe the commencement of the trial to be material and we had little or no feedback on the mountain of documents that was submitted for assessment. There was little Pure Hydrogen would be able to say about the trial or its commencement other than it was still under assessment. The assessment took significantly longer than expected and much longer than the previous experience when Pure Hydrogen sorted approvals for our EV70 buses. Pure Hydrogen did not want to publicly question the regulators or the process while the Taurus Prime Mover was under assessment. For these reasons, Pure Hydrogen did not make public statements until we had a degree of certainty about the registration.

8. ASX notes that at page 8 of the June 2024 Quarterly Report, under the heading ‘Current orders for vehicles as at 30 July 2024’, the status for both PepsiCo and JJ’s Waste & Recycling is ‘Under assessment1’. Whilst there is a footnote reference next to the term “Under assessment”, no associated footnote appears to have been included in the Announcement.

8.1 Please provide the intended content of the omitted footnote.

'Under assessment by Australian National Heavy Vehicle regulator'.

8.2 Please explain the difference between the designation of an order as "under assessment" and "awaiting certification".

'Under assessment' means under the assessment of the Australian National Heavy Vehicle regulator, whereas 'awaiting certification' means awaiting certification to some element or components of the vehicle that has been tested.

Compliance

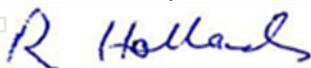

9. Please confirm that PH2 is complying with the Listing Rules and, in particular, Listing Rule 3.1.

The Company believes it is in compliance with ASX Listing Rules and in particular 3.1.

10. Please confirm that PH2's responses to the questions above have been authorised and approved in accordance with its published continuous disclosure policy or otherwise by its board or an officer of PH2 with delegated authority from the board to respond to ASX on disclosure matters.

The board has authorised and approved this response.

Yours sincerely,
