Venator's Jo Douglas-Harris shortlisted for Young Leader of the Year Award

WYNYARD, UK - Venator – a leading supplier of specialty chemicals and ingredients is proud to announce that Jo Douglas-Harris, one of our talented leaders, has been shortlisted for the prestigious Young Leader of the Year Award by the British Coatings Federation (BCF). This award recognises the impact and innovation of young leaders in the coatings industry.

Jo is the Global Surface Coatings Product and Applications Manager at Venator, bringing several years of experience in Science, Technology, Engineering and Manufacturing (STEM) as well as leadership. Her exceptional values, work ethic and unwavering commitment to creating value for our customers, business and communities have earned her this well-deserved recognition.

The BCF, a key Trade Association representing paint and coating manufacturers and sellers in the UK and abroad celebrates the achievements and excellence of the coatings sector through its annual awards. Jo was selected as a finalist from a highly competitive pool of over 70 entries, evaluated by an independent judging panel.

Tom Bowtell, CEO of BCF, said: "The competition was really strong again this year, perhaps one of the strongest ever with over 70 entries, so all the companies and individuals that made the shortlist can be extremely proud of their achievements.

"It was also fantastic to see such growing interest across all the award categories, which really showed diversity, innovation, and entrepreneurship across the board. We are especially pleased with the number of entries for our individual awards, particularly the Apprentice and Young Leader of the Year categories, as the BCF continues to look to the next generation to shape our future and careers outreach through our Coatings NextGen Council."

Expressing her gratitude, Jo said: "I'm delighted to be shortlisted for this award but wouldn't be in the position without the amazing teamwork and performance of my Venator colleagues. It has been a challenging few years for the business and I'm so appreciative of working with extremely knowledgeable and dedicated associates across our network. Thank you."

The winner of the Young Leader of the Year Award will be announced at an awards dinner on Wednesday, November 6, at The Principal, York. We congratulate Jo on this remarkable achievement and wish her the best of luck.
