Eversource on TIME's List of World's Best Companies for 2024 Energy company ranks #1 U.S. utility for sustainability, high employee satisfaction, and revenue growth

HARTFORD, Conn. and BOSTON, Mass. (October 17, 2024) – As a strong reinforcement of its position as an energy industry leader, Eversource (NYSE: ES) has been listed in TIME's ranking of the World's Best Companies in 2024 which was curated in collaboration with global research and data firm Statista. Ranked #396 overall out of 1,000 companies and the #1 U.S. utility, this recognition highlights the energy company's exceptional performance in three key categories, including employee satisfaction, revenue growth and environmental, social and governance (ESG) metrics.

“At Eversource, sustainability, and keeping our employees engaged with an eye toward the environment are fully integrated into our business, and we're honored to receive this distinction from TIME and Statista, which underscores our commitment to those core values, helping to make us the best energy company in the country,” said Eversource Chairman, President & CEO Joseph Nolan. “We're proud to serve as a catalyst for New England's clean energy transition through innovation and a focus on a more sustainable future. We're able to live out that mission by investing in our dedicated employees, fostering a people-centric culture in the workplace, and supporting our communities. Exemplary corporate citizenship is essential for serving our customers and this crowning recognition is a testament to the high standards we continue to set across all areas of our operations.”

The World's Best Companies 2024 ranking, presented by TIME and Statista, is based on a comprehensive analysis conducted to identify the top-performing organizations across the globe. The 1,000 companies named to the list were identified based on three primary dimensions, including employee satisfaction surveys, which were conducted in more than 50 countries and evaluated employers based on image, atmosphere, working conditions, salary and equality. Additionally, organizations were considered based on revenue growth and sustainability transparency through publicly available ESG metrics.
