Today, we announced an agreement to combine with Berry Global, Inc., creating a global leader in flexibles, containers and closures for consumer and healthcare customers. The combined new Amcor will accelerate the possible, right now – elevating brands, shaping lives and protecting Earth for the benefit of customers and consumers worldwide 🌍

Together, we will have a more complete and more sustainable product offering, supported by stronger innovation capabilities, global scale and supply chain flexibility. We will be strategically focused on higher-growth, higher-margin categories.

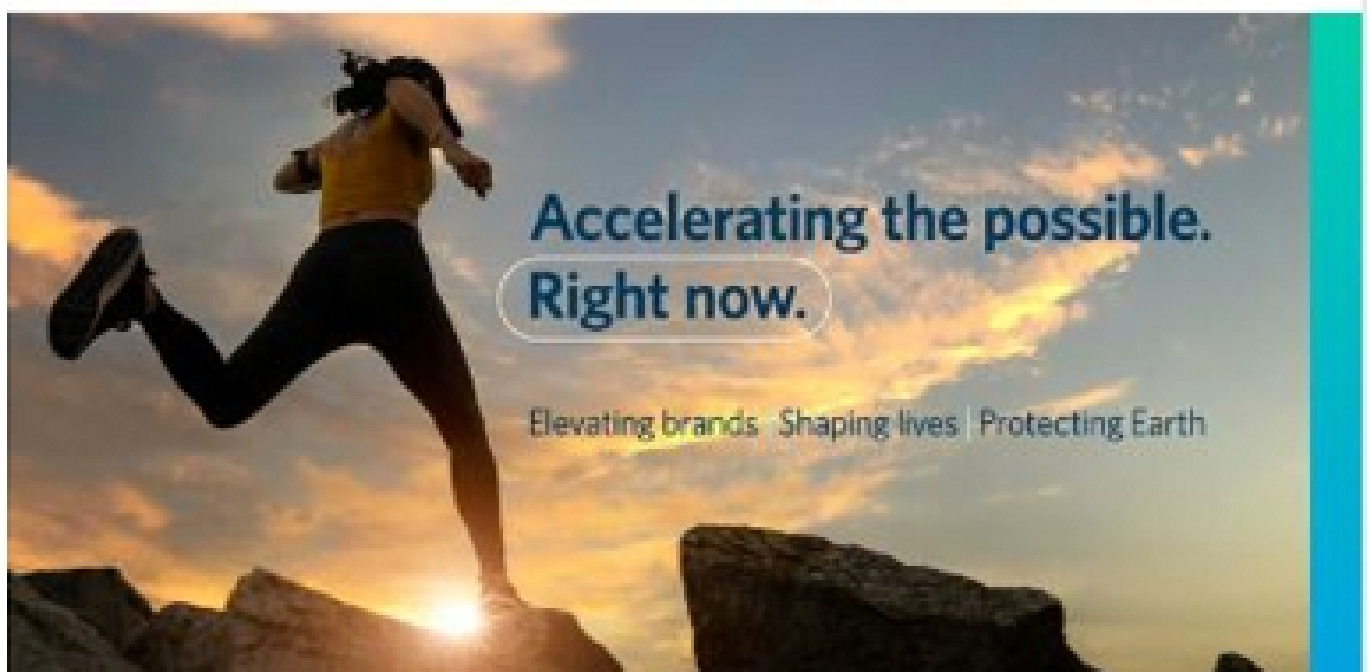

Servicing customers in 140+ countries through ~400 production facilities, we will bring global capabilities to local customers and provide local access to global brands.

Our combined strengths and leadership will allow us to bring greater sustainability across the industry – unlocking technical breakthroughs, partnering for transformative change and making circularity possible with more alternative materials and a lower carbon footprint.

Join us as we accelerate towards a brighter, more sustainable future, together.
