

THE COMPETITION – AND EMOTIONS – HEAT UP IN THE CHICKEN SISTERS
AVAILABLE TO STREAM OCTOBER 10, ON HALLMARK+

STUDIO CITY, CA – October 7, 2024 – Conflict and conciliation are on the menu in the “I Choose to be Happy, Y’all” episode of Hallmark’s new, original series The Chicken Sisters available to stream Thursday, October 10, on Hallmark+, the company’s reimagined streaming service and membership rewards program. The series stars Schuyler Fisk (Sam & Kate, Orange County), Genevieve Angelson (The Handmaid’s Tale, Good Girls Revolt), Lea Thompson (Switched at Birth, Back to the Future) and Wendie Malick (Young Sheldon, Shrinking, Just Shoot Me!)

Amanda (Fisk) tries her best to be happy despite current events, but she’s not quite convincing herself. Meanwhile, the Kitchen Clash competition comes to a head as emotions run high and tempers flare on both sides when Frank Jr. (James Kot, Virgin River) and Sergio (Ektor Rivera, Groundswell) face off in a new challenge Sabrina (Rukiya Bernard, Yellowjackets) cooked up. Although Mae (Angelson) and Amanda’s slumber party may have brought them closer, the sisters quickly find themselves at odds with each other again.

The Chicken Sisters is from Fox Entertainment/MarVista Entertainment in association with Lighthouse Pictures and Busy B Entertainment. Annie Mebane, Bradley Gardner, Shawn Williamson, Jamie Goehring, Larry Grimaldi, Ani Kevork, Hannah Pillemer and Fernando Szew are executive producers. Kimmy Gatewood, Erin Gibson and Leila Cohen serve as co-executive producers. The series is produced by Ian R. Smith. Shannon Kohli directed from a script by Kerry Carney.
