Infosys Honored with HFS OneOffice™ Awards in the Sustainability and Innovation Ecosystem Categories

Recognized for robust ESG leadership and for driving breakthrough transformation in the BFS sector through Infosys' Fintech Ecosystem

Bengaluru, India – June 23, 2022: Infosys (NSE, BSE, NYSE: INFY), a global leader in next-generation digital services and consulting, today announced that it has won two HFS OneOffice™ Awards in the 'Sustainability' and 'Innovation Ecosystem' categories. The recognition by HFS Research, a leading global analyst firm, attests to Infosys' overall environmental, social, and governance (ESG) leadership across both its own internal and ecosystem sustainability along with the ability to meet clients' complex needs through Infosys' Fintech Ecosystem.

Infosys was recognized as a winner among 200 entries for demonstrating excellence and consistency in driving unmatched value for its clients while making a positive impact on both global and local environments, communities, societies, and economies.

Infosys won the HFS OneOffice™ Award in the sustainability category for aligning its capabilities across consulting, technology, and business services to provide sustainability services as distinct client offerings and a native portfolio element. Infosys was distinguished for leveraging its proprietary tools, platforms, and sustainability-focused partner ecosystem to effectively address all 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in line with its ESG vision. The award additionally emphasized Infosys' efforts to impart education through the Infosys Springboard platform as part of its corporate social responsibility (CSR) strategy to develop life skills and technical skills that expand opportunities for communities, while promoting gender parity, diversity, and inclusion.

Joshua Matthews, Practice Leader at HFS Research said "Infosys is one firm to watch in 2022 and beyond, as sustainability is set to dominate the agenda of all organizations for the next half-century. Having achieved carbon neutrality across its value chain in 2020, Infosys now hopes to positively impact 80 million lives by 2025 and invest heavily in efforts to restore biodiversity, particularly in locations where it operates. With further plans to deliver sustainability services to clients by 2025, Infosys is a clear leader in the field and a very worthy winner of the Sustainability category of the HFS OneOffice™ Awards."

Infosys Fintech Ecosystem, an initiative to set up a marketplace for fintech players, incubators, and accelerators to connect to an existing wealth of markets and clients across geographies, won the HFS OneOffice™ Award in the Innovation Ecosystem category for enabling seamless business transformation for clients and partners in the banking and financial services sector globally. Infosys was recognized for its ability to help clients orchestrate their technology partnerships while keeping pace with rapid innovation to stay relevant and drive long-term success.

"HFS selected Infosys as the winner in the Innovation Ecosystem category of the HFS OneOffice™ Awards because of the unique ecosystem Infosys created to address its clients' complex needs." Hridika Biwas, Senior Analyst at HFS Research, continues, "The Infosys Fintech Ecosystem enables collaboration on joint service offerings and solutions development to drive breakthrough transformations in the banking and financial services (BFS) sector. Congratulations to Infosys for this comprehensive achievement.”

Mohit Joshi, President, Infosys, said, “We are deeply honored to have won the prestigious HFS OneOffice™ Awards that recognize our efforts in driving sustainability, nurturing business innovation, and expanding opportunities for the communities we operate in. While this recognition reenergizes our commitment to orchestrate a sustainable business ecosystem, it also acknowledges our ability to deliver purposeful transformation, modernization and optimization solutions for our clients.”
