Community Invited to The Market at Camp Cohen Before It Closes for the Season

EL PASO, Texas—The City of El Paso Museums and Cultural Affairs Department (MCAD) invites the community to the final Market at Cohen on Saturday, September 28.

The Market at Cohen is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Gateway N. Blvd in northeast El Paso. The art and farmer's market offers original arts and crafts, food vending, regionally grown agricultural products, and more.

Even though The Market will close for the season at the Cohen location, it will be part of the City's fall festivals including Chalk the Block (October 11-13), Dia de los Muertos (November 2), and WinterFest (November 23, to January 5, 2025). Vendor locations will vary based on each festival's footprint but will be within the Downtown Arts District.

The Market will return to Camp Cohen in March 2025. In 2024, The Market relocated to Camp Cohen from downtown, expanding its community and economic impact.

For more information on The Market, visit epmcad.org/experience-art/art-and-farmers-market or follow The Market on Facebook and Instagram.

About The Market

Established in 2011, the market offers original arts and crafts, food vending, regionally grown agricultural products, artisans, regional farmers, and live entertainment from local artists. The Market has grown from 75 attendees in the first year to 1,000 attendees currently.
