City of El Paso Announces New Internship Cohort Project

Internship Opportunities for UTEP Students

El Paso, Texas—The City of El Paso is excited to announce a new Internship Cohort Project for the Fall of 2024 for undergraduate students from The University of Texas at El Paso who are seeking an opportunity to intern in select city departments.

This inaugural internship cohort is intended to provide a holistic understanding of city government and its functions while the intern gets experience in the assigned department.

Internship opportunities are made available for undergraduate students who are currently enrolled and in good academic standing. Students who have limited or no prior knowledge about municipal government can broaden their education and gain practical preparation for the real world through internships in various departments. It's not necessary for the student to be studying these fields in order to participate.

- Economic Development
- Human Resources
- Capital Improvements (Projects)
- Information Technology

Interns will also have the opportunity to attend special programming such as department presentations where they will learn about other city departments.

Interested individuals need to be qualified as follows:

- Capital Improvement Projects: Applicants should have a good understanding of Microsoft Suite and an educational background in Engineering.
- Human Resources: Applicants should have an educational background in Business Administration, analytical and computer skills, as well as an interest in public service.
- Information Technology: Applicants should have experience in programming, software development, software engineering, systems engineering, or other engineering educational background.
- Economic Development: Applicants should have experience in data and business analysis, public administration, or marketing.

Deadline to apply is Friday, Aug. 2, 2024.
