Report on Non-Competitive Awards During Fiscal Years 2022-2023

The U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) submits the following report pursuant to section 7019(e) of the Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2024 (Div. F, P.L. 118-47) and House Report 118-146, which states:

“Procurement.—The Committee directs the Administrator of USAID to submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations, not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, on any procurement actions which were not fully competed and the justification for each such action taken during fiscal years 2022 and 2023.”

The authorities for the non-competitive actions included in this report appear in the following policies and regulations:

In addition to individual awards of less than $250,000, certain action types are excluded as not relevant to the non-competitive category because the work was not eligible for full and open competition. These include interagency agreements with other Federal Departments and Agencies, and instances in which previous competition limited the work to only certain organizations, including under a multiple-award, indefinite-delivery, or indefinite-quantity contract (IDIQ). Awards not eligible for full and open competition appear in the Agency’s total amount obligated and the total number of actions completed for FY 2023, and include the following types of actions:

- Exercise of Options — Option years are negotiated during the competition of the original award; they are not competed upon exercise of the option.
- Personal Service Contracts — It is the Agency’s practice to compete personal service contracts. However, this instrument is excluded from consideration for non-competitive status in this report because of the nature of performance, which is by an individual through an employer/employee relationship.
- Task Orders Under IDIQs — USAID competes the basic award of an IDIQ. Once the Agency executes the basic award, only contractors who are holders under the basic award are eligible for Task Orders. USAID conducts competition for work under individual Task Orders according to the fair-opportunity process described in FAR 16.505.
- Interagency Agreements — USAID does not conduct full and open competition for agreements with other U.S. Government Departments and Agencies.
- Purchases from Federal Supply Schedules — The General Services Administration (GSA) negotiates with contractors before placing an item on a schedule. FAR 6.102(d) (3) specifically identifies Federal supply-schedule purchases as competitive procedures, although at the time particular goods or services are required, the Agency conducts only limited additional competition among the pre-qualified supply-schedule contractors, in accordance with FAR Part 8.

USAID remains committed to competition and the spirit of competitive awards. Competition promotes competitive pricing, enhanced quality, and superior performance, and is a catalyst for innovations in science and technology that advance the field of development. USAID adheres to the principle precept that competition is a crucial factor in obtaining the best value for the U.S. Government and supports the accomplishment of our foreign assistance mission.

Non-Competitive Acquisitions: Contract Actions

The table below provides the information for each new non-competed contract for Fiscal Years (FY) 2022 and 2023. The information includes the corresponding non-competition category, the contract number for each award, the justification for Non-Competition, the Obligated amount (by contract) and number. The total obligations for each Non-Competition Category are included for each FY.
