Avasant Recognizes Wipro as a Leader in the High-Tech Digital Services 2021-2022 RadarView Report™

Report highlights Wipro's practice maturity, investments, innovation, and partner ecosystem

New York, USA and Bangalore, India – Oct. 28, 2021: Wipro Limited (NYSE: WIT, BSE: 507685, NSE: WIPRO), a leading global information technology, consulting, and business process services company, announced that it has been recognized as a Leader in the Avasant High-Tech Digital Services 2021-2022 RadarView™ Report. The report is an independent assessment that reflects the true capabilities of service providers and evaluates them as long-term partners for digitally evolving global organizations.

Parinita Singh, Principal Analyst, Avasant said, “Wipro has a mature, high-tech practice and a vast client portfolio with more than 130 high-tech clients. With over 30 years of industry experience, 35 delivery centers, multiple, long-term client relationships, and an array of industry solutions and case studies, Wipro emerged as a leader in the High-Tech Industry Digital Services 2021–2022 RadarView.”

Aongus Hegarty, President, International Markets, Dell said, “Dell Technologies has a strong culture of performance, and is focused on helping our customers seize growth opportunities in key areas like multi-cloud, edge and 5G. Our work with Wipro is another example of how we continue to innovate with service providers around the globe to assist organizations make the most out of data at the edge, across multiple cloud and traditional IT environments. Wipro's tech expertise is an important part of our partner ecosystem and an asset to our joint customers.”

Angan Guha, CEO, Americas 2, Wipro Limited said, “We have a long history of leadership in high-tech as one of the first technology companies in the sector. We continue to invest in offerings like engineering, cybersecurity, 5G Labs, Technovation, and Wipro FullStride Cloud Services and acquisitions like Eximius Design, 4C, and Rational Interaction to help clients stay ahead and transform products, experiences, and their businesses to better serve customers.”

Avasant's assessment methodology is based on a proprietary Digital Maturity Framework, which measures technology product and service providers on the factors that are most critical to global organizations. The report recognized Wipro's leadership in four key areas: practice maturity, investment, innovation, and partner ecosystem.

Practice Maturity – Wipro's high-tech sector business has more than 3000 domain experts certified across leading cloud service providers, over 130 active clients, and 35 delivery centers. Additionally, Avasant highlighted several areas where Wipro has gained traction, enabling solutions from a broader capability set: 1) the Vantage solution, 2) 360 Global Signal Hub, and 3) dynamic content creation and contextualization.

Investments & Innovation – The report also cites Wipro’s enhanced capabilities, solution offerings, and investments and acquisitions of a variety of innovative companies. A broad range of patents bolsters Wipro’s ability to deliver in the areas of cloud migration, automation, artificial intelligence, system design solutions, subscription services, digitized channels, blockchain enhancements, and network slice advanced solutions.

Partner Ecosystem – Avasant also notes Wipro’s long-standing client relationships and 360 - degree relationship with several niche high-tech partners. These relationships enable Wipro to deliver end-to-end solutions along the full range of needs. Wipro’s most requested expertise is in R&D, product strategy, supply chain, manufacturing, sales and marketing, customer experience and after-market optimization and operations.
