U.S. Gold Corp. Issues CEO Update on Project Advancements

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 26, 2022 /PRNewswire/ --U.S. Gold Corp. (Nasdaq: USAU) (the "Company"), a gold exploration and development company, today announced that it has issued a CEO update outlining the Company's recent and expected milestones, as it continues to advance its assets and mining projects.

Highlights include:

- Update on the CK Gold Project prefeasibility study ("PFS") in Wyoming
- Advancement of the CK Gold Project in 2022 toward permitting

"I am proud of all of the work U.S. Gold Corp. has accomplished since I joined in August 2020," stated George Bee, President, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of U.S. Gold Corp. "As we continue to push forward and advance our CK Gold Project, we anticipate 2022 to be an even more productive year for us. Some of the activities that investors can look forward to are as follows:

- Updates as we advance the prefeasibility study to feasibility incorporating some of the project enhancements and capital equipment reductions we expect to incorporate,
- Finalizing our CK Gold Project mine permit application and its submission to the Wyoming state authority's mid-year,
- Pursuit of ways to monetize the aggregate potential of the non-gold and copper bearing rock at the CK Gold Project, whose excellent quality has been confirmed through test work,
- Continued community outreach to build support for the CK Gold Project,
- Advancing the excellent exploration potential of our Nevada assets on the Carlin and Cortez trends where we have found a host rock and structural setting that could lead to significant discoveries, and
- Broadening our market presence beyond our current United States NASDAQ Capital Market listing.

We are a small but efficient team with little overhead focused on deploying capital prudently to create value for our shareholders. We continue to entertain the prospect of incorporating quality partners to advance our exploration portfolio."
