If adequate funds are not available or are not available on acceptable terms, the Company will not be able to fund its operations. Financial Statements

The accompanying financial statements of MINERALRITE CORP, for December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020 have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). The accompanying financial statements have not been audited or reviewed.

In the opinion of management, the financial statements include all known adjustments (which consist primarily of normal, recurring accruals, estimates, and assumptions that impact the financial statements) necessary to present fairly the financial position as of the balance sheet dates and the results of operations for the years then ended, and cumulative from inception.

In the opinion of management, the financial statements include all known adjustments (which consist primarily of normal, recurring accruals, estimates, and assumptions that impact the financial statements) necessary to present fairly the financial position as of the balance sheet dates and the results of operations for the years then ended, and cumulative from inception.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

SFAS No. 107, "Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments", requires disclosures of information about the fair value of certain financial instruments for which it is practicable to estimate that value. For purposes of this disclosure, the fair value of a financial instrument is the amount at which the instrument could be exchanged in a current transaction between willing parties, other than in a forced sale or liquidation. The carrying amounts of the Company's financial instruments, including cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, advances to suppliers, accounts payable and accrued expenses, line of credit, notes maturity for these instruments.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For the Statements of Cash Flows, all highly liquid investments with maturity of three months or less are considered to be cash equivalents.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at historical cost. Major additions and renewals are capitalized and depreciated over their estimated useful lives. The Company uses the straight-line method of depreciation. The estimated useful lives for significant property and equipment categories are as follows:

Office and computer equipment	3-7 years
Machinery and equipment	5-10 years

Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

The Company evaluates the recoverability of long-lived assets and the related estimated remaining lives at each balance sheet date. The Company records an impairment or change in useful life whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable or the useful life has changed. During the periods ended December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020 the assets of MINERALRITE CORP, INC. were fully depreciated.

Loss per Common Share

Basic net loss per share is calculated based on the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding. Diluted net loss per share is calculated using the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding plus common stock equivalents. Common stock equivalents are excluded from the calculation of diluted net loss per share when their effect is anti-dilutive.

Stock-Based Compensation Arrangements

The Company accounts for stock-based compensation arrangements in accordance with guidance provided by the Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”). This guidance addresses all forms of share-based payment awards including shares issued under employee stock purchase plans, stock options, restricted stock and stock appreciation rights, as well as share grants and other awards issued to employees and non-employees under free-standing arrangements. These awards are recorded at costs that are measured at fair value on the awards’ grant dates, based on the estimated number of awards that are expected to vest and will result in charges to operations.

From time to time, the Company’s shares of common stock have been issued as payment to employees and non-employees for services and the reduction of debt. These are non-cash transactions that require management to make judgments related to the fair value of the shares issued, which affects the amounts reported in the Company’s accompanying financial statements for certain of its assets and expenses.

Income Taxes

The Company account for income taxes pursuant to ASC Topic 740, “Income Taxes”. Under ASC Topic 740, deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between the bases of certain assets and liabilities for income tax and financial reporting purposes. The deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified according to the financial statement classification of the assets and liabilities generating the differences.

Deferred Offering Costs

The Company defers as other assets the direct incremental costs of raising capital until such time as the offering is completed. At the time of the completion of the offering, the costs are charged against the capital raised. Should the offering be terminated, deferred offering costs are charged to operations during the period in which the offering is terminated.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

The management of the Company does not believe that any recently issued, but not yet effective, accounting standards, if currently adopted, would have a material effect on the accompanying financial statements.

(2) Going Concern

Management of the Company believes that the Company will be successful in its capital formation and operating activities, there can be no assurance that it will be able to raise additional equity capital or be able to generate sufficient revenues to sustain its operations. The Company also intends to conduct additional capital formation activities through the issuance of its common stock to establish sufficient working capital and to expand its operations.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), which contemplate continuation of the Company as a going concern.

The Company has incurred an operating loss since inception and the cash resources of the Company are insufficient to meet its planned business objectives. These and other factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The accompanying financial statements do not include any adjustments to reflect the possible future effects on the recoverability and classification of assets or the amounts and classification of liabilities that may result from the possible inability of the Company to continue as a going concern.

(3) Investment in Subsidiaries

(5) Derivative Liability

The Company evaluated the conversion feature embedded in the convertible notes to determine if such conversion feature should be bifurcated from its host instrument and accounted for as a freestanding derivative. Due to the note not meeting the definition of a conventional debt instrument because it contained a diluted issuance provision, the convertible notes were accounted for in accordance with ASC 815. According to ASC 815, the derivatives associated with the convertible notes were recognized as a discount to the debt instrument, and the discount is being amortized over the life of the note and any excess of the derivative value over the note payable value is recognized as additional expense at issuance date.
